

Our Home by Sovereign Builders

Open House

Hope you can join us to celebrate the completion of a beautiful home construction by Sovereign Builders. This house showcases the incredible talent and work of many local crafts people. We are fortunate now to call it home. We would like to share this afternoon with you so that you can see your finished project and so that we can extend our thanks for making this a very special place.

Who, Julie & Chris

Where, South Hadley, MA

When, Sunday, December 5th

Time, 3-5 p.m.

What, food and beverage

Sunday, December 5th, 2010

Contractors, close friends and relatives joined Julie & Chris for the joyous Open House celebration of their beautiful new Craftsman Style home. Located in the Pioneer Valley of western Massachusetts, their home is a showcase of superior craftsmanship provided by Sovereign Builders, Inc. of Westhampton, MA and several local companies. Resawn white oak barn timbers, which created the wonderful relaxed atmosphere and prominent focal point for the open floor plan, were provided by Levanna Restoration Lumber of Auburn, NY.

We enjoyed an extensive tour, taking note of the precision and tastefully executed details of Sovereign Builders' own Mike Lannon, Timber Frammer; the superb artistry of stone mason Ernest Zuraw, owner of West Cummington Stone & Wood and the classic elegance of finely crafted shaker-styled cabinetry represented by Barbara Bren of Vartanian Custom Cabinets, Palmer, MA: naming only three in a team of highly skilled artisans involved in the project attending the event.

Everyone enjoyed Julie's expert hand for delectable finger foods. Nothing common on this table, for the H'orderves were exquisitely displayed; and prepared for the most discerning palate.

But, as time was beginning to wind down, Doug asked Chris to call for a group photo to immortalize the occasion. You can't say this bunch didn't have a good time.

Thank you Julie and Chris – it was worth the trip.

Doug Holland